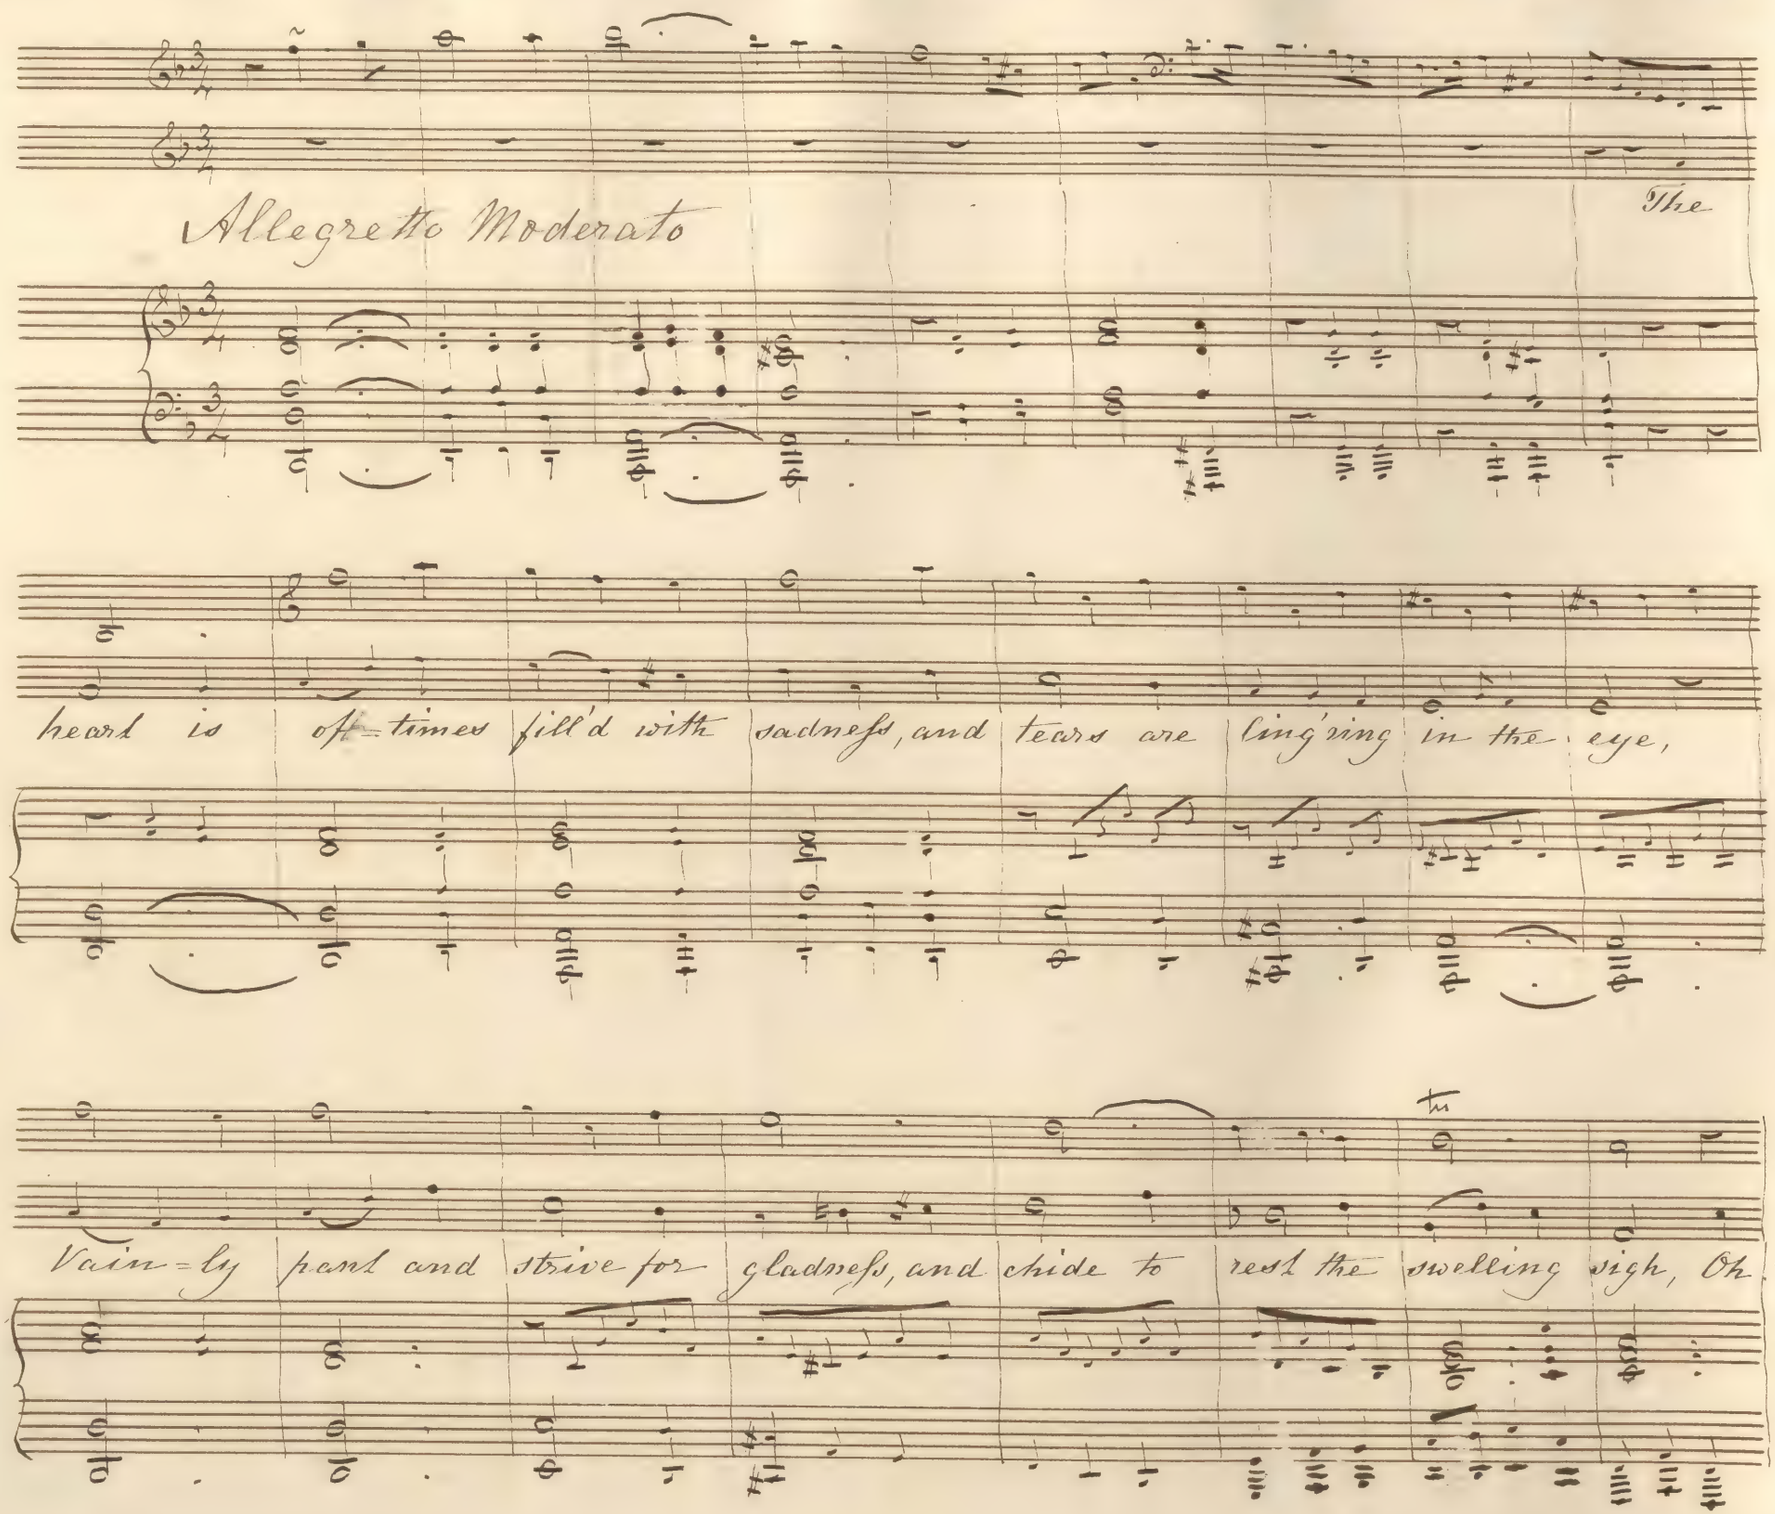
"The heart is oft times filled with sadness"

ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC LIBRARY
SOUTH KENSINGTON
LONDON



Allegretto Moderato
The
heard is oft-times fill'd with sadness, and tears are ling'ring in the eye, Vain-ly pant and strive for gladness, and chide to rest the swelling sigh, Oh!

Say whence these sad mo=ments come, when life is shining bright and gay, the yearning soul, doth long for home, the home of her e=ter-nal rest, the home of her e=ter=nal rest.
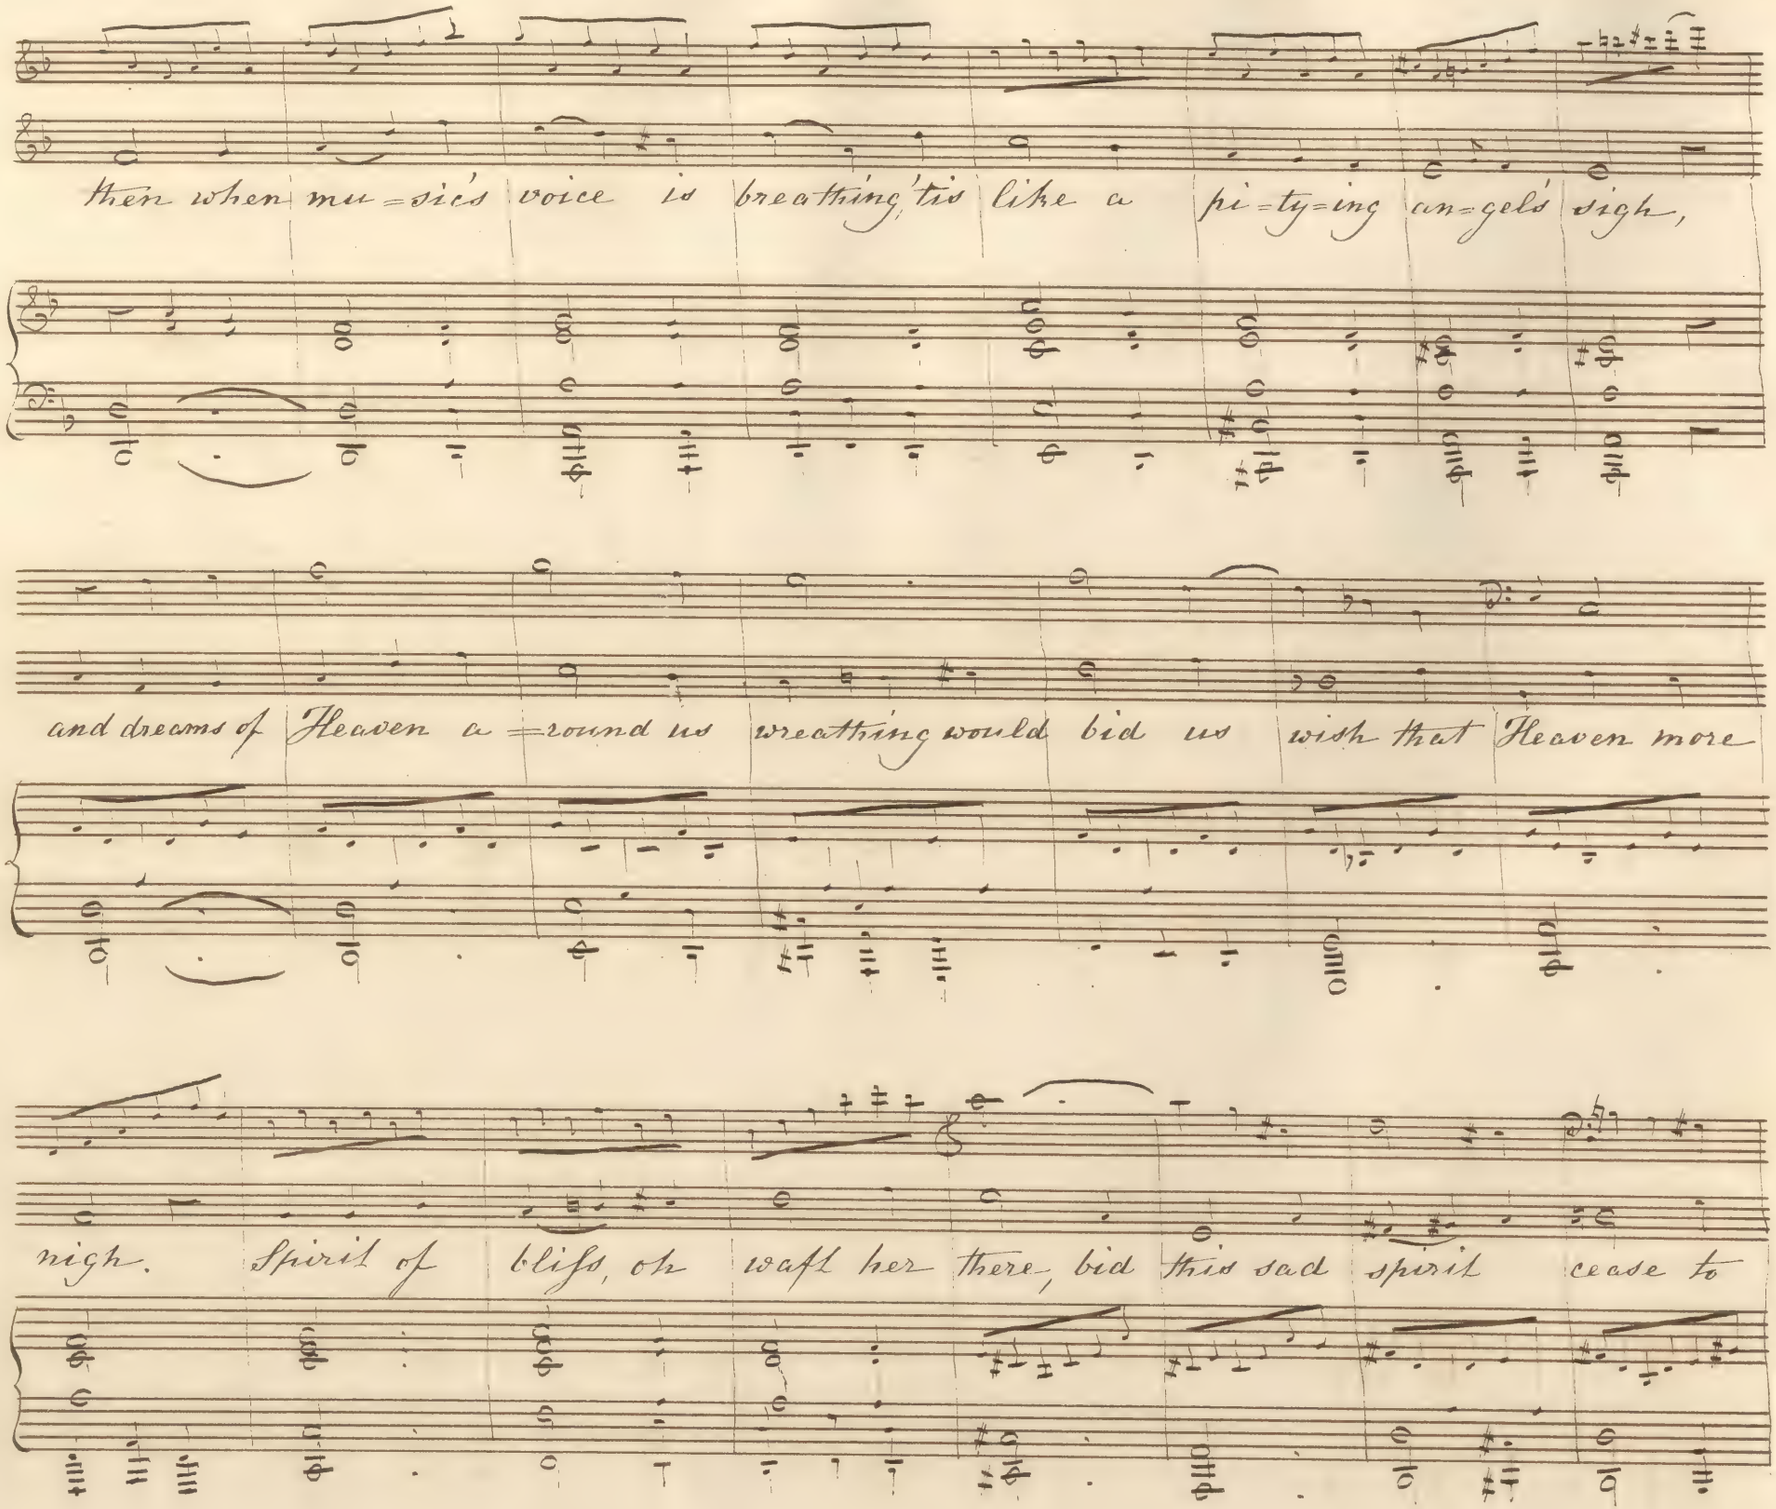
Oh!



then when mu=sic's voice is breathing, 'tis like a pi=ty=ing an=gel's sigh, and dreams of Heaven a=round us wreathing would bid us wish that Heaven more nigh. Spirit of bliss, oh waft her there, bid this sad spirit cease to ache, 'tis thine to hush each darkling care, and this sad world E = ly = si = um make, and this sad world E = li = sium make.

Sleep, sleep my heart's delight,
Sleep, thy bed is soft and white,

Sleep from care and sorrow free,
Thy Father watches and toils for thee,

He every danger braves
Fierce winds and foaming waves

My babe for thee, my Child for thee
Not for himself his prayer
Thou art his only care, he prays for thee,

Tossed on the foaming sea, still he thinks of thee,
Sleep my baby dear, why should'st thou fear Thou knowest no care nor fear

Sleep oh! sleep, Sleep baby sleep
